

New Ways

A day to explore starting fresh expressions of church
Saturday 21st January 9:30am - 4:30pm

All over the UK new forms of church are springing up. Why are they starting? What do they look like? Are they really church? How can you start one? Come along and explore together.

Venue: Clarence Road Baptist Church, 6 Clarence Road, Southend, Essex, SS1 1AN
Near to Southend Central railway station

Price including lunch: £17 (£10 concessions)

Trainers:

Peter Dominey planted Church from Scratch and with that church he planted Shared Space, a missional social enterprise, and is now looking to plant again. He is a leader of Incarnate Network which connects pioneers and church planters.

Juliet Kilpin is a coordinator of Urban Expression, a creative urban mission agency pioneering relevant forms of church in some of our most challenging inner city contexts.

Richard Shorter is a specialist in what it means to eat for Jesus, he regularly eats and drinks in public places to become friends with others. Because of this he is likely to die young, so come hear him now before he pops his clogs. He pioneers this eating in Harrold Hill near Romford.
